The Veterinary Referral Centre offers a variety of specialist services using state-of-the-art equipment, as well as the latest medicines and therapies to diagnose and treat pet's condition. Veterinary Referral Centre was introduced to us by their fitout contractor.

After consulting with their accountants, they decided the smartest method was to use lease finance to fund the fitout of their new premises.

They had a long term vision of opening a 'Supervet' Practice, where they would be able to provide a wide range of different treatments including highly specialist scanning to enable the business to care for more of the animals' needs without having to refer them elsewhere.

Their new office expansion required a full structural transformation and remodelling of the lower floor with modification of the upstairs. The project included the creation of a reception, kennel areas, operating theatre, intensive care services, x-ray and scanning rooms, consultancy and treatment rooms and offices.

Leasing provided a flexible solution enabling them to retain their cash as working capital through the critical first few months of opening their new base while they developed and expanded their client base.

“ We were looking to grow our business and needed support to get the high quality equipment for our business. Leasing our fitout with Plus Finance means we would be able to extend our services and have freedom to work through an evolving project plan without incurring further financial complications. Bernard Walsh, Director ”

Leasing helped our client to

- ◆ Get high tech facilities to extend their service portfolio and customer base
- ◆ Helped with cashflow through the first few months of opening
